Evolution of soccer

Soccer has historically been a boys' sport at Immaculate Heart of Mary. Until recently, there were not many girls soccer teams. Now things have changed: IHM currently has no boys' soccer teams and it's become more of a girl's sport. In years when there have not been very many players, grades have combined to form teams and represent our school. When there are not enough players to form an IHM team, players sometimes combine with a different school so they can play.

Evolution of cheer

Cheerleading has changed throughout the history of Immaculate Heart of Mary School. When cheerleading teams were first created, there were no school sports for girls and it was the only athletic activity available to them. That made cheerleading popular and there was a team for every grade, 5th through 8th. As more sports became available for girls, fewer and fewer girls cheered for the boys and played sports for themselves, like basketball and softball. 7th and 8th grade teams combined, and so did the 5th and 6th grade teams. Cheerleading continued to decline until there are currently no cheer teams at IHM.
